Customer Reviews

Purchased because we have a newbie playing group, and being able to choose spells out of a deck instead of a book is a huge boon, and because having a reference during the game saves a lot of time. Unfortunately, these cards don't include text of the spell mechanic, so they won't work as a real reference. They also don't include even all of the core spells, which feels pretty silly. What do they expect, that we'll just pick spells with cards? That we'll have some cards for reference but just memorize the others?

Do you have a few dollars to buy a pencil and flash cards? Then you have the ability create cards with more information and flavor than these cards provide! There is no art to speak of and only the most basic info provided, the same info you would have with a character sheet. For some reason they decided to make these cards only 1 sided (because I know so many GMs that decide to shuffle and random draw what spells the enemy Magician is gonna cast). Do yourself a favor, if you need help with spells in SR5, save your money and write it down on scratch paper.

This makes my life at gaming much easier. It is easier to have my cards out and next to me than to constantly flip through a book. The information on the cards is good and you do not need to refer to the book more for additional information.
