Double Fudge Brownie Murder (Hannah Swensen Series Book 18)

Synopsis

Life in tiny Lake Eden, Minnesota, is usually pleasantly uneventful. Lately, though, it seems everyone has more than their fair share of drama--especially the Swensen family. With so much on her plate, Hannah Swensen can hardly find the time to think about her bakery--let alone the town's most recent murder. . . . Hannah is nervous about the upcoming trial for her involvement in a tragic accident. She's eager to clear her name once and for all, but her troubles only double when she finds the judge bludgeoned to death with his own gavel--and Hannah is the number one suspect. Now on trial in the court of public opinion, she sets out in search of the culprit and discovers that the judge made more than a few enemies during his career. With time running out, Hannah will have to whip up her most clever recipe yet to find a killer more elusive than the perfect brownie. . . .

Customer Reviews

This is without a doubt the worst of the Hannah Swenson mysteries, and may be one of the worst mysteries I've ever read. I bought this book with the Blackberry Pie mystery which I thought was pretty bad, but it's a masterpiece next to this book. At the end of the last book we were waiting for Hannah's trial for running over and killing a man. But at the beginning of this book we are forced to endure Delores's Las Vegas wedding to Doc for the first 7 chapters. When Doc's best man can't make it - the substitute best man is Ross Barton (from the Cherry Cheesecake mystery - Didn't like him there, don't like him here). The old college friend of Hannah's. After the wedding, Hannah returns home only to have her judge beaten to death while she sat outside his office on the morning her trial is supposed to begin. Her attorney just happens to pick that moment to step outside the waiting room for a call, so she doesn't have an alibi. Of course, no one actually investigates the crime except for Hannah, as she goes it alone once again to save herself from a murder charge.) Highlights: Norman, Moishe the cat.) Lowlights: Moishe the cat - The repetitive descriptions of some of his actions - Rushing the door when she comes home or when he and Cuddles chase each other around the table get's old after the 3 or 4th time telling "In The Same Book." Ross Barton - Check out my spoiler alerts below if you've read the book, otherwise come back after you've read the book. The mystery. What mystery? Of course, Hannah would be suspected, after all isn't that what a killer does, wait to be escorted to the waiting room with her lawyer and then burst in and kill her judge?
